Please join us for a day of classroom observations, presentations, and dialogue!

We are pleased to invite you to a one-day study tour of Hilltop Children's Center, with a particular focus on Pedagogical Documentation as a framework for professional development and family engagement.

Hilltop Children's Center has been serving the Seattle community for over 40 years, and is featured in many books and videos from Harvest Resources. Hilltop has become known for our beautiful childhood-focused environments, our intentional partnership with families, and our dedication to facilitating and documenting Emergent Curriculum.

We hope you will join us for an engaging professional tour of our program, where you can explore our indoor and outdoor environments, observe our classrooms in action, study our archive of pedagogical documentation, and dialogue with our faculty, parents, and administrators.
