(no microwave use pls) 	Reggio-Inspired Practice (15 hours training) Has the Reggio approach to early childhood education captivated your interest? Are you ready for more learning than a two hour workshop can offer? This 15 hour course will prepare you to incorporate the Reggio principles into your every day practice. Beyond the principles of Reggio Emilia, participants will learn how observing the small, mundane happenings in children's play can lead to responsive curriculum. Participants will discover The Importance of Place and find out how loose parts, beautiful stuff, and found materials can add richness to the children's learning and play. Participants must attend all three sessions. About the Trainers: Roni Cahen and Bev Superle are instructors in the Burnaby Community and Continuing Education Early Childhood Education program. They have studied the approach of the schools of Reggio Emilia for many years and have visited these early childhood centres in Italy twice. Both Roni and Bev have sought ways to make Reggio inspired practice a reality for the many adult students and ECE practitioners with whom they work.
